

JEAN ELIOT'S WEEKLY CHRONICLE OF CAPITAL SOCIETY

Celebration of Bastille Day Big Event in D. C.

DEAR SUSAN: "Everybody's coming home!" "Yes, and everybody else is going away!"

That was rather an amusing fragment, overheard up at the French embassy Monday night—and contradictory as it may sound, both statements are absolutely correct. To have made it quite complete the speakers should have added in duet, "And whether they're coming, or going, they're all here tonight!" which would have been equally true.

It was not only the return home-warming of the French ambassador and Mme. Jusserand—their first big party after eight months in France—but it was their first real celebration of the "Quatorze Juillet"—the French Fourth—in five years, and quite the happiest and most brilliant official company since that never-to-be-forgotten Italian reception in honor of King Victor Emmanuel's birthday on November 11, when all official Washington was grateful to Italy's King for having had the foresight to select November 11 for his birthday so that the stage was already set for a great fête on "Armistice Day," and exclusive official society was given a chance to blow off steam quite as effectively as the street crowds, but with a little more dignity and reserve.

To be sure the French embassy had been the scene of a similar jubilation two weeks later, on November 26, when the Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand had given a brilliant reception in honor of the restoration of the lost provinces, Alsace and Lorraine, but even that brilliant as it was, and at a time of year when everybody worth while is normally in town, and while the National Capital had recruited the social leaders of every city in the country, drawn here for war service, didn't seem quite so deeply joyful an occasion as last Monday's celebration.

Not only was there a general feeling that the fourteenth was not in the closer brotherhood which had grown out of the war, our day, just as Paris had recently made its Fourth here, but it was the first opportunity society in general had had to greet most of those who had but recently returned.

In fact, the nations of the earth, so far as they are represented in Washington, seemed to be celebrating "Bastille Day" with the French. All the embassies and legations had their flags out, and one of the Latin-Americans when asked why, explained that it was in honor of the French holiday. The diplomats all at the embassy that night—and simply beaming.

Jusserands Prove Delightful as Hosts.

And the beaming of the entire company were the host and hostess—the Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand. They were absolutely two of the most radiant and patently happy people one could hope to see. Mme. Jusserand, who is the personification of gentle dignity and an aristocrat to her finger tips, was truly "en grande tenue," wearing a trained gown of lilac and gold brocade, with diamonds at her throat and a diamond coronet on her small regally carried head. As for Monsieur l'Ambassadeur, masculine evening dress is pretty much the same the world over, but it did seem that he had a new new decorations.

The embassy itself was gay with flags and fragrant lovely with quantities of midsummer flowers—a most attractive setting for the uniforms of officers of every nationality now represented in Washington—in most instances dress uniforms which haven't seen the light for many months, and most of them sporting a fine new crop of decorations and medals—and the light and graceful summer finery of the women. Of course, the tri-color was everywhere, and at the two ends of the supper table were two of the lovely little wafers the French make so artistically, one clad in the Stars and Stripes to represent America and the other picturing Chénal, as she stood, draped in the tri-color, to sing the Marseillaise and stir the souls of Frenchmen to deeds of valor.

The real surprise of the evening was the arrival of the White House

MISS ELIZABETH DUBOIS, Daughter of former Senator and Mrs. Fred T. Dubois. She has just been graduated from college in Chicago and will be a debutante next season. At present she is deeply interested in the "big sister" movement at Walter Reed Hospital.

MRS. PETER C. BULLARD, Wife of Lieutenant Colonel Bullard, U. S. A., and their baby. Mrs. Bullard was formerly Mlle. Helene Tournier, of Toulon, France, daughter of Commandant Tournier, of the French navy. Colonel and Mrs. Bullard were married in France early in 1918 and are now stationed at Washington Barracks.

MISS GRAZIELLA RIVERO, Daughter of the late Senator Martin Rivero, who was at one time Cuban minister to the United States and later Cuban minister to Italy. With her mother, she makes her home in Washington and is popular with the younger set here.

party—and that apparently was a surprise as much to the hosts as to any of the guests. In fact, it was more so—for there were one or two of the guests—Mr. Polk, the Acting Secretary of State for instance—who knew that the President and Mrs. Wilson intended to come, and no one connected with the embassy did know it. In fact early in the evening Mme. Jusserand in answer to a question as to whether the President and Mrs. Wilson were expected, responded, "Oh no, there was no idea of their coming."

And a little later General Collard, military attaché of the embassy, answered similarly a similar question from one of the Cabinet women. In fact, I'm sure he said that they had not been asked; not, of course, that they would not be more than welcome, but because it was deemed better not to, lest they might feel that simply because they had chosen to honor both the French and Italian embassies last November, in the moment of victory they would be expected to do it every time the embassy had a party in future.

So it happened that along about 10:30 the Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand led their guests to the dining-room, and just at the moment that the Ambassador was trying to attract their attention, presumably to propose the expected toast to his well-beloved France—he was electrified by the unexpected strains of "The Star-Spangled Banner." He looked at Mme. Jusserand, and Mme. Jusserand looked at him. It could mean but one thing, and the toast was deferred as they hastened down to receive the unexpected but welcome guests from the other end of Sixteenth street, who were paying them this very signal honor.

Mrs. Wilson's Gown Really Stunning.

The White House party consisted of the President and Mrs. Wilson, Miss Margaret Wilson, Miss Bertha Bolling, and Col. Clarence Ridley, the President's chief aide. And my! but Mrs. Wilson was stunning! She was wearing a perfectly wonderful glittery gown simply covered with iridescent sequins, probably on a tulle foundation, for the hard edges were softened in places with little folds and fluffs of tulle. She wore the little jet tiara which she was so fond of before she went abroad—at least I suppose it was the same one, it looked like it—and which was particularly becoming to her. It had been said that Mrs. Wilson had rather concentrated on evening gowns and costumes for formal wear in her shopping in Paris, and had ordered many of her summer frocks, in which the Capital would see her going about her daily routine here, to be made for her in New York. And this assuredly was a sample of the Paris gowns. In fact, it was a Worth creation, as Mrs. Wilson smilingly admitted to one of the Cabinet women who complimented her on it and asked if she had brought it over with her. Miss Wilson, who usually goes in for light blue evening gowns, when she doesn't wear white, varied that program by appearing in a most becoming shade of pale green, also a Paris creation, of chiffon and tulle.

Most of the President's surprise parties—and he is given to them—are political. But he particularly enjoyed this one. In fact the whole party seemed as pleased at the unexpectedness of their arrival as a group of children who had planned something "unknown" to their elders and put it over. And certainly their arrival was the final crown of an already very successful evening. The President was in his happiest vein when he responded to M. Jusserand's toast to the United States and the company will long remember M. Jusserand's moving little speech.

The President and Mrs. Wilson found practically their entire official family there. The Vice President and Mrs. Marshall, the Acting Secretary of State (Mrs. Polk is on Long Island with the children), and Secretary and Mrs. Daniels (who were white satin brocade in gold—also "made in France" and looking the part), the Postmaster General and Mrs. Burleson, Secretary and Mrs. Lane (Mrs. Lane in a lovely rose-colored gown which was new to me), Secretary and Mrs. Redfield, and practically all of the Diplomatic Corps that is still in town headed by the Spanish Ambassador and Mme. Riano, and the Italian Ambassador and Countess di Cellere, and the Countess di Cellere, all of whom had been away for months, actually in one room! It was known that Secretary and Mrs. Lansing were on their way—and would be here within a week; so, too, was the Ambassador of Argentina, Dr. Thomas LeBreton, who has been in Paris watching events. And the Russian ambassador, Boris Bakmetoff, who has been attending the sessions of the peace conference, is reported as about starting for America.

The Mexican ambassador, Dr. Bonillas, was recently called home to confer with Carranza about the present rather ticklish situation, and returned early in the week, and signaling his arrival in Washington by a dinner Thursday night in honor of Colonel Salinas, head of the Mexican aviation school whom he brought with him for a short visit to the United States. It was a large and brilliant company, several of the guests coming down from New York for the occasion. On the following day Colonel Salinas motored to New York, but he is expected back in Washington by the end of this week, and presumably will be made much of by the aviation service of both army and navy, and taken out to the various aviation fields near Washington and shown all the sights.

Many Dignitaries Are Present At Reception.

Really as one greeted so many lately returned travelers, and was told of so many others who were on the way home, it seemed as if the bit of conversation recorded at the beginning of this letter was quite justified. Here were the President and Mrs. Wilson and Miss Wilson, the French Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand; the Italian Ambassador and the Countess di Cellere, all of whom had been away for months, actually in one room! It was known that Secretary and Mrs. Lansing were on their way—and would be here within a week; so, too, was the Ambassador of Argentina, Dr. Thomas LeBreton, who has been in Paris watching events. And the Russian ambassador, Boris Bakmetoff, who has been attending the sessions of the peace conference, is reported as about starting for America.

And the Swedish minister, Mr. Ekengren, is back after a six weeks' visit home, the first in several years. More properly, he's back in this country, for with Mme. Ekengren, he has run up to Martha's Vineyard, Mass., for a glimpse of his little girls, established there with their grandmother, Mrs. John P. Jackson, before coming to Washington. Mme. Ekengren will probably remain at their cottage at Edgartown for the rest of the summer.

American Diplomats Home For Vacation.

Many of our own diplomatic representatives who have not been able to leave their posts for several years are flocking home for short vacations. The John W. Garretts, for instance, are coming home from Holland, where Mr. Garrett is United States minister, and are bringing with them Louise Thoren, their niece, who has been visiting them for several months. They will probably spend most of their leave with Mrs. Garrett's mother, Mrs. Benjamin H. Warder, although Mr. Garrett will naturally have to be in Washington part of the time, reporting in and consulting with the State Department.

Ira Nelson Morris, our minister to Sweden, and Mrs. Morris have been in America for several weeks, and are now at their summer home in Wisconsin. Mr. Morris having come down to Washington to make his report while Mrs. Morris collected their son and daughter, who were at school in Massachusetts, and took them out to Wisconsin. Mr. Morris joined them there a little later. Also our minister to Norway, Albert G. Schmedeman, has just arrived to make his report to the State Department, and take the first vacation—worth mentioning, for they don't really call them vacations when they can't come home—in several years; and P. Grant Smith, who succeeded Maurice Francis Egan as minister to Denmark, is likewise returning.

Thomas Nelson Page, it appears, is the only one of our ambassadors coming home just now. In fact, he and Mrs. Page reached America about a week ago, and he's now in Washington. She has gone to Bar Harbor or it is York Harbor—for a little visit. Presumably since he has resigned and taken formal and final leave of the King of Italy, one should speak of him as "former Ambassador Page," but his successor has not yet been formally appointed and the appointment duly ratified.

It is, however, currently reported, and those most likely to know seem to regard the report as well founded, that Brand Whitlock is to be his successor, having earned his promotion by his strenuous service in Belgium. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to the Dominican Republic, is formally made from the White House and then comes up for ratification by the Senate—in this case it shouldn't long—nobody officially knows anything about it.

Meanwhile, however, the Whitlocks are coming home—they're to sail on July 26, I believe—and their friends, Mrs. Wilson and her friends, are waiting for them on the side of the water will certainly do their best to "show them a good time."

William J. Price, minister to Panama, is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico; Preston McGowan, our minister to Venezuela, Boaz Long, newly appointed minister to Cuba, although they have been in town for several months. Mr. Fletcher seems to be a more or less permanent fixture and he and Mrs. Fletcher have taken a house and settled down. Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Salvador, has been staying on here for months looking after some important matters in the State Department. He has an apartment at Stoneleigh Court and had his sister with him all winter to keep house for him. The present minister to Cuba, William E. Gonzales, is to go to Peru as our first ambassador unless the place of Mr. Long, who was formerly minister to Mexico, is decided. Mr. McGowan is at present in Washington, and mustn't forget such notables as Henry